Union Depot is a classic rock cover band formed by four classmates from Voorheesville, New York. The name, "Union Depot" pays tribute to one of the original names for their small hometown just outside Albany, New York, which served historically as a railroad hub. While Union Depot is known for their hard-driving rock n roll, the band members have a rich musical history of experience, interests and influences, including country, contemporary christian/worship, and classical. Their diverse backgrounds blend well to form a popular live music event that leaves audiences dancing and singing as they pump out rock classics from the 60's through the 80's, including an intimate acoustic set of top hits. Members of the group are; Ian O'Connor (vocals), Richard Mazzaferro (guitars, vocals), Doug Flint (bass, vocals), and Doug Bernhard (drums, vocals).
